The man who neglects his health for the sake of the excitement of work and money-getting, is dancing with death. It is a dance in which death always comes out victor. If a man will only spare enough time to take care of health, to eat, and rest and sleep properly, and when he feels slightly indisposed will resort to the right remedy, he may work as hard as he pleases, and pile up money steeply high, without fear of untimely death.

The worst enemy with which hard-working men have to contend is a disordered digestion. It is the starting point for most sickness and disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery prevents sickness and disease. Its use insures a hearty appetite, and healthful, restful sleep. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, invigorates the liver and purifies the blood. It tones the nerves. It makes pure, rich blood, builds firm healthy flesh, and strong, elastic muscle. The man who resorts to it whenever he feels out of sorts, may, within reason, work as hard as he pleases. Druggists sell it.

"Enclosed please find a one-cent stamp," writes James Treat, of Clarendon, Donkey Co., Texas, "for which please send me a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers. I have been taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood and think it is the best blood-purifier in existence."

One of the best-known of American medical men said: "If you want to reform a man, begin with his grandfather." That would be wise if it could be done. Since it cannot be done, try something else. Reform the future grandfathers and grandmothers. Do this through education. The greatest thing for a man or woman to know is himself or herself. To know one's self is to know one's capabilities and disabilities of the human body. It is a liberal education. A good start for this education is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Any one can have this finely illustrated, 1000-page book for the small price of twenty-one one-cent stamps. This is simply to pay for mailing. If you would like the book in fine cloth binding instead of paper, send thirty-one stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

general went to Reno, a long journey in those days, to buy those diamonds she wears, and the corbelle.

Sometimes, even when there was no one to dine at home but the family, Mistress Chevalier would sail into the drawing room, that paragon's tail of green embroidered velvet spread behind her, her beautiful black hair turned back—like that—in a tour, her arms as naked as Venus', her point lace falling from her milk white shoulders, and flashing from hair and ears and fingers and flaming in a fire circle about her delicate neck, the diamonds—magnificent stones, worth scores of negroes.

Lord! how the daughters would stare at their plates and how the sons would sneer at each other as the general would meet her midway the room, lead her to her seat at table and kiss the dimple on her shoulder before he left her.

"They say she loved him passionately—that often, when she thought they were alone and he would pass her chair, she would turn her head upon her lazy cushions and hold out a beautiful hand. And he?"

Would kneel beside her and kiss her pompadour lips and lovely throat until you would have sworn him 25, and maybe not married at all.

They say, too, 'twas a pretty sight to see her with her little son. A maid going to help her dress one morning heard so much laughter and such baby shrieks that she first peeped in at the door.

And, behold, the mistress on her hands and knees and baby, just from his bath, on her neck!

She was crawling over the velvet carpet in her linen shift, looking over her shoulder at the little shouting rascal, who tugged at her hair with one hand while he beat her with the branch of jasmine in the other. The black "da" cat and shook like a fuscous mold of berry jam, while the young mistress crawled about, crushing the yellow flowers under her soft hands and knees.

The boy sat by her, one very print and copy of his father, with his little aquiline nose, his bright blue eyes, and his father's own trick of holding up his chin and stiffening his spine when he desired to see clearly.

Now, the general had been good to his children. He had given generously to his sons and had helped them in business. He always gave marriage portions to his daughters.

They all came to hear the reading of his will—the women shrouded in crape, with red eyes and noses. The mistress sat in the gown the general had loved her the most in, and everybody stared at her and at her beautiful grief-stricken face.

The will stated that she should hold the old Chevalier place for her son. If she survived him, it should be here absolutely, to leave as she pleased.

There should be no division of property until the last day of age. Then came legacies to relatives and servants, and that was all.

The stepchildren were furiously angry. One would have thought them on the verge of starvation. "Wait 11 years!" they cried. "Wait until that precious brat is a beggar! And his mother, with everything in her hands and responsible to no one? It is not to be endured."

And so on, words and worse. The mistress looked from one to another.

"I will not tell you to leave my house," she said in a voice both sweet and frozen, "for you are one of the home you have always had here. You now have homes of your own and must live in them, as I shall live in mine. As long as you are in my house you must conduct yourselves as your father's children should. Your quarrels and cruel speeches insult his memory."

They took flight like so many blackbirds, but the mistress was so good-natured they drew back at intervals, and every now and then the boy was permitted to visit them. He went with pockets full of gold and returned a total bankrupt. He gave, and they took, with both hands.

About a year after the general's death the boy came home from a visit to his eldest brother, Robert, who lived in the city. He had been at home for a day, perhaps, when he was taken ill.

His illness puzzled the country physician, and a city colleague was sent for. But the boy died.

His mother, looking at his dead body, spoke out her thoughts: "He has been poisoned. His brother has poisoned him."

And she called the eldest son Cain and Robert the Devil to his dying day.

would lie, waiting for death, with a corpse-like smile at the general's portrait.

At these times the family, in all its branches, rejoiced. There were only a few of the direct line left. Nearly all had married. Some were rich, and some were poor, and all were avaricious.

At last, one morning the faithful maid-lavender found the mistress dead in her coffin.

Once again the children of the house assembled in the drawing-rooms to hear the reading of a will—the women, as usual, a hypocritical row of veiled pleuroses. All were present except the son of Robert.

He had inherited his father's hatred, and Mistress Chevalier's death revived the story of her son's. To the step-grandson said away from her burial.

His portion of the estate should be the place itself. But the will ran: "To my faithful and devoted attendant, Cilla, or Lucilla, Chevalier I leave the place and certain sums of money at interest, herein more fully described and specified."

This Lucilla Chevalier was none other than the mulatto slave woman whose papers of freedom, together with those of her daughters and sons, had been declared before the will was opened.

Therefore was she a legal heir. A gasp of horror ran round the room.

The Chevalier place!

But that was not all. If the surviving relatives of the testator should attempt to set aside the conditions of the will in any way, on any grounds, the entire property, real and personal, should go to the dead woman's physician. Between this man and the Chevaliers there had always been feud and ill favor.

Niobe's son received a life interest of many thousand dollars, and there were a few legacies here and there among the poorest Guelph-Chevalier tribe.

The mistress' gold and silver plate, diamonds and other jewels were looked up in a bank in the city, to be disposed of, in accordance with sealed instructions looked up with them, a year after the reading of the will.

When Robert's son was told these things, he turned white and then green—a vivid, unpleasant shade.

CORNER STONE OF HEALTH

Effect of Paine's Celery Compound Upon the Blood and Nerves.

Now is the season to lay the foundation for future health and strength.

The corner stones of good health are complete digestion, sound sleep, pure blood and a perfectly nourished nervous system.

The wonderful success of Paine's Celery Compound in making people well and keeping them so, has always been accounted for by physicians by its extraordinary power of nourishing and regulating all of these functions.

It is not strange that so many unscientific remedies do no permanent good when they disregard this close interdependence of the nerves and the organs of digestion and circulation, and attend to but one disordered part at the expense of all the rest.

The only possible way that a real lasting gain in strength and vitality can come is through pure blood, better nourished nerves and tissues, more refreshing sleep and an economy in the expenditures of nerve force.

These are the objective points aimed at and attained by Paine's Celery Compound!

This remarkable remedy permanently cures every form of nervous debility, neuralgia, sleeplessness, melancholy, hysteria, headaches, dyspepsia and heart palpitation. Primarily the nerves, and then every organ governed by them is induced to work in a normal and orderly manner.

Mothers should give their children Paine's Celery Compound now it is spring, instead of some heartsy blood purifier that can have no power of correcting an impure state of the blood or regulating so complicated parts as the brain and nerves. Debility and disease are cured by Paine's Celery Compound. It is not in the power of any other remedy to make people so permanently and so completely well as this astonishing nerve and brain strengthener and restorer and blood purifier, Paine's Celery Compound. One needs simply to give it a trial to be satisfied.

THE TELEPHONE WAR.

The late decision in the United States Supreme Court regarding the Bell patents has created considerable speculation as to whether other companies will be permitted to continue their service. The Sunset Company at San Jose has issued a circular letter to subscribers of the People's Company notifying them that it has the exclusive right to use the American Bell Company appliances, and that under the recent decision it owns the Berlinger patent. To make the matter seem more pointed the letter adds that "All infringers of this Berlinger patent will be legally prosecuted and held for damages."

Geo. C. Crothers, President of the People's Company of San Jose, has issued a reply stating in substance that the Sunset Company is running a bluff and endeavoring to intimidate the People's patrons and advises the subscribers to stand firm, also that any suit brought for infringement or using any patent provided by the People's Company will be defended by them.

It is claimed that the new company is operating under the Milde patent, the assignee being the Standard Telephone Company of Madison, Wis. It is also claimed that the only question before the courts was fraud as to the issuance of the Berlinger patent.

A BIG MINING SUIT.

Albert C. Frost has filed a suit against Chauncey D. Clark in the United States Circuit Court at Chicago for $500,000, involving a mining deal. Frost claims that as agent for Clark, he negotiated the sale of a large mining interest and that his commission amounted to $150,000. Frost is a Chicago mining broker and Clark is a resident of Arizona.

This case will doubtless bring forward and expose some of the ins and outs of placing mining properties on the eastern market or selling mines to eastern or foreign syndicates. There have been numbers of instances where wild-cat mines have been disposed of by brokers and when the buyers have tried to develop the property, have found themselves badly sold. This kind of work has been much of an injury to the mining region as any other drawback known and many places are suffering the effects of such business now. In the above suit, however, it seems that the broker was made a dupe of and it is not stated how the purchasers came out.

The introduction of prohibition into the Populist ranks of Kansas has caused considerable discord. Governor Leedy and his police commissioners have been severely denounced by the temperance wing of the party for not enforcing the prohibition liquor law.

At a big mass meeting Wednesday night at Topeka, held by the temperance people, the Governor took a hand at denunciation on his own account and asserted that the State temperance association had fallen into the hands of agents of railroads and corporations and that they were making a political weapon of the cause rather than an instrumentality for good. The Governor's position brought a caustic retort from ex-Senator Peffer, who was again scored by Annie L. Diggs, a Populist leader. There was a regular monkey and parrot time for a little while and the agitation bids fair to cause a disruption in the ranks.

JOHN D. ROCKFELLER has, like many other wealthy men of this country, tried to immortalize himself by offering a donation to the Northern Baptist Association of $250,000 to clear the association of debt, providing that a similar amount should be raised by July 1st. This is an old gag among wealthy men, such propositions always being made with the full knowledge of the almost certain impossibility of raising a corresponding amount. In other words rich men's donations are usually made with a flourish of trumpets and with a string attachment so that in the event of the conditions of the donation being complied with, the donation can be pulled down.

Such acts may help a rich man to procure a liberal amount of free advertising on this mundane sphere, but are a poor assurance of a cool and comfortable reception in the hereafter.

It is believed that Mark Hanna will be nominated for United States Senator from Ohio, with but little opposition. Thirteen counties have held conventions and all but two have endorsed Hanna as their choice. The two counties opposing him are small and out little figure. The whole program, from McKinley's candidacy for President, the appointment of John Sherman to the Cabinet and Hanna's subsequent appointment to fill Sherman's unexpired term, as a stepping stone to the coming senatorial election seems to have been perfected in every detail.

A SECOND island has appeared in Moro Bay near San Luis Obispo. The other evening the residents were startled by another earthquake shock accompanied by a loud report. Upon investigation, a second island, similar to the one which appeared a few days ago, but much nearer shore, had come to the surface. The last island bears evidence of a small sized crater from which large quantities of the blackest mud can be seen slowly oozing.

WAR NEWS.

THE SITUATION IN CRETE STILL SERIOUS.

The Cuban Question Taken up by the Cabinet—Relief of American Citizens in Cuba.

CANDIA, Crete, May 21.—The Cretan insurgents have received instructions from Athens to accept autonomous form of government on condition that the Turkish troops be previously withdrawn. The insurgents appear to approve of this plan.

The Mussulmans of Crete, however, have telegraphed the Sultan protesting at being "placed in the power of a majority which betrayed such hostilities to Mussulmans by carnage at Sitia and the destruction of all Mohammedan villages," and adding that "autonomy under such circumstances cannot fail to perpetuate race wars and only briefly postpone a revival of the annexation question, with all its disastrous consequences."

The situation here is serious. There is a revival of excitement among the Mussulmans and Christians in consequence of the departure of the Greeks. Some of the Bashi-Bazouks fired upon Admiral Harris, British Commander, yesterday afternoon, making his fourth escape since he has been in these waters. Later in the day five shots were fired at the French Admiral while walking in Suda with his chief of staff.

Three insurgents, attacked and disarmed a British Lieutenant near Suda. In this case the British Admiral sent an ultimatum to the insurgents demanding a return of the Lieutenant's arms within forty-eight hours or action would be taken. The ultimatum expires to-day.

The British cruiser Cambria has been recalled to Suda Bay to be prepared for eventualities. Brigandage is also appearing among the insurgents. Two Mussulman children were killed yesterday and another sent back for ransom.

MEETING OF THE CABINET.

The Cuban Question Taken Up and Discussed.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Cabinet meeting to-day was interesting because the principal subject under discussion was our relations towards Cuba. The action of the Senate yesterday in passing the Morgan joint resolution declaring a state of war in Cuba was regarded as a movement that threatened, if carried out, to interfere with the efforts of the executive branch of the Government to accomplish something substantial for the Cubans.

The details of the plan President McKinley has in mind have not yet been disclosed, in fact, it may be said, they are subject to arrangements upon a basis of the latest official information received from Cuba, probably Mr. Calhoun.

It was clearly manifested in the Cabinet meeting, that the President had made up his mind to another forward step and while up to this time he has, as he promised in the beginning of his administration, confined his efforts largely to protection for American citizens in Cuba, he now has come to the determination to use his power to stop bloodshed in the islands so far as this can be done without involving the United States in war.

There was some talk respecting the application for relief measures in favor of American citizens in Cuba. The laws decided to delay the informal signature of the resolution, which would not necessarily prevent immediate application for some money to feed the people represented as in great distress, as drafts cannot be received before the formalities are completed and the resolution becomes a law.

Among other matters briefly discussed was a full report of the Forestry Commission upon the reservation question which used so much time in debate in Congress, but no action was taken on the subject.

D. H. Birdsall, the giant powder man, well-known in this part of the country, was seriously injured in a runaway accident in Calaveras county a few days ago. He was thrown headlong from the buggy, and being a large man, he was pretty badly used up by the fall.

The new town of Overton, north of Truckee on the Hobart estate, promises to be a thriving and permanent camp. An immense saw mill capable of 180,000 feet of lumber per day, fitted with electric lights and other modern improvements is the principal attraction.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

An Invitation Extended to all Friends of the Institution.

The JOURNAL publishes the invitation from the President and Faculty of the State University to the general public or all who are interested in the University work, to be present and witness the exercises of commencement week. The program covering the various features of the week is also presented, and it is the desire of the University management that everyone who feels an interest will give at least a few hours of their time and the encouragement of their presence during commencement week. Special invitations cannot be sent to everyone, but it is the wish of the President and Faculty that each person feel that an individual invitation has been received.

It is expected that the exercises this year will not only be interesting in every detail, but will demonstrate the work accomplished as well as what the State University is able to do for the youth of Nevada.

ART LOAN EXHIBITION.

Everyone Should Patronize and Encourage the Project.

The Art Loan Exhibition now being held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms in Eureka Block by the Baptist Young Peoples' Union is not a catch penny proposition, but an exhibition where one can spend a pleasant hour or two looking at elegant works of art on canvases, in water colors and in decorative work, besides curios and many pretty and interesting articles that one seldom has an opportunity to see. Nearly one hundred oil paintings are on exhibition and until one sees them, one would hardly believe there were so many in Reno. The lady managers are endeavoring to make the visit of every patron one of pleasure and profit. Music is a feature and for the small sum of 25 cents an hour or two is pleasantly passed. Refreshments are served at 10 cents, but these need not be purchased unless the patron desires.

The exhibition will be open this afternoon and evening and it is hoped will be liberally patronized.

"A BAD JOB."

"The Uncertainty of a Woman's Mind." This wonderfully funny farce will be presented by the Reno Dramatic Club at the Opera House on next Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Reno Choral Union.

The names of the characters alone indicates great amusement. They are as follows:
Remington Robb.....Tragedian
Nathaniel Cobb.....A poet
Gustavus Cobb.....A simple minded youth Clarinda Cobb.....A loving and confiding girl
Belinda Cobb.....A designing widow
The farce will be immense, but it will only be one of the pleasing features on the program, for the Choral Union has arranged a splendid musical evening that will insure two hours or more of pleasure.

Tickets on sale at Lake's Book Store and Brookins'. No reserved seats.

More Earthquakes.
At 1:50 yesterday afternoon, one of the heaviest shocks of earthquakes of the late series of disturbances occurred and was followed a few moments later by a slight tremor.

Nearly everyone in the stores and business places had some urgent call to the street, they were not frightened, but simply went out to see what other people were doing.

should be purchased only at a reliable store. If the quality of the iron is not of standard grade there are defects in the castings. Defects means burnt spots in the iron and burnt spots mean spoiled dinners. Our hollow ware may cost a trifle more than a poorer grade, but it more than earns its cost in the length of service and satisfaction.

The men's fingers itched for the gold and silver, the women's for the precious stones.

The box was empty.
Empty—save for a folded square of paper, sealed and stamped with an Arabic cipher.

"Shall I open it?" inquired the president of the bank, looking from one be-wondered face to another.

"If you please," answered Nick-son.

"Is there no address?"
"None whatever."
Broken open, the letter ran:

My Dear Son—Sixty years ago I wondered you father. Today I repair the wrong as far as I am able. I intended leaving my plate and jewels in this box for you, but I prefer to give them to you with my own hands. Come and take them from me. Your affectionate grandmother.

JUANA DE RIVERA ORTEGA.

A card with a mourning border dropped from the letter to the table.

Robert picked it up mechanically and read: "Mrs. Clara Derby Robert Chever. At home. The Cheverer vault, King William's cemetery."

"Go!" he repeated, staring at the bit of glazed pasteboard and then at Nickson's sign.

Then he seized his hat, pushed his wife aside and rushed from the bank.

From the City to South street, St.
Peter's parish, then the station to the churchyard, then the churchyard to the marsh.

The tide was up.
For hours he sat looking at the slowly receding water.

Nickson's soul touched him on the shoulder.

"Fool!" he asked politely, "where did you bury her?"

"There," said Robert, doggedly, pointing ahead of him.

The marsh was drying, with sucking sounds, under the sun. A slave near by murmured to himself.

They caught one word, then waded to the spot and dug, with a spade, a few feet and several other heavier things and watched the quicksand sink down out of sight.

Then they scrambled to the marsh bank and went each his separate way.

Mr. Leroy Vanderhoof of Hyde Park, Washoe, celebrated her twentieth birthday on May 8 by receiving her many friends in Hyde Park, which was handsomer decorated with potted plants and flowers. There were four generations present. Mrs. Vanderhoof was assisted in receiving by the type of her great-grandchildren, Miss Katie and William Lancet. Mr. Vanderhoof, Mrs. Margaret Cooter, and granddaughter, Miss Ada Lancet, were also present. Mrs. Sander-land, great-grandmother of the school question in the March meeting this year, as she has done every year since women have had the right to vote for members of the school board. She is one of 60 women who, in 1870, nominated a full ticket in Hyde Park and cast their ballots at the city hall town meeting. They were kept separate and not counted. They published by the press. She is a member of the Woman Suffrage League and the Hyde Park Historical society. She has been a resident of Hyde Park since 1867. She was born in Salem, N. H., in 1807, and married when quite young Dr. Leroy Vanderhoof, an associate of Theodore D. Weld and William Lloyd Garrison.

"The Majority of Women."
The opponents of woman suffrage claim to represent the majority of women. The claim is baseless.

The majority of women are neither suffragists nor non-suffragists; they are indifferent. Of those who take any lively interest in the question either way the large majority want to vote. This has been shown year after year by the relative numbers of petitioners and re-monstrants. Not only in Massachusetts, but in Maine, New York, Illinois, Iowa
—in short, wherever petitions for suffrage and remonstrances against it have been sent in the petitioners have always outnumbered the remonstrants at least five to one, and often fifty or a hundred to one. The so called referendum of 1896 merely demonstrated the same thing by an official count.—Boston

Dread Dyspepsia

It Steals upon its Victim Like a Thief in the Night and its Grip is Vice-Like and Deadly.

Causes Many Untold Sufferings—A Lansing, Michigan, Young Lady Speaks of Her Experience—It is a Case of more than Ordinary Interest.

From the Journal, Lansing, Mich.

There are few things which make life more miserable and more to be dreaded than dyspepsia. But what percentage of this hurrying, restless American people is not afflicted more or less with disorders of the stomach, and how many are there who are successful in seeking permanent relief?
It is a purely problematical. Indeed, it is doubtful if the majority of the victims of dyspepsia are aware of the true nature of their illness until it has developed into a chronic state, and many even die in ignorance of what actually caused their death.

Dyspepsia is a dread destroyer before which the strongest iron constitution is broken down, and unless prompt and vigorous steps to combat the destroyer are taken, the victim suffers a torturing illness, unto death.

The stomach is a delicate organ, and is very easily abused. No one is free from the danger of acquiring a stomach disorder more or less severe. An unconscious overloading at a meal, partaking of food indis-cretely, too much exercise immediately before or after a meal, midnight suppers, heavy and improper mastication, over indulgence in spirituous beverages, loss of sleep and excesses in general are the causes of most cases of dyspepsia. But how and when is the victim to know that he is about to fall into the grasp of dyspepsia? There are many warnings, but alas, how frequently it happens that no heed is taken until it is almost too late.

One of the first indications that all is not right with the stomach is when a slight drowsiness is felt after partaking of a meal, especially a dinner. There is a desire to lie down and rest a few moments—to close the eyes in a few moments of slumber. The victim at first gives no attention to this feeling but goes about his duties as usual.
Gradually, however, this sense of weariness becomes more powerful as nothing is done to assist the stomach—and he sooner or later takes to his couch after a meal. Thus is inaugurated the "after dinner nap."

At first this nap is somewhat refreshing, but as the stomach becomes weaker and weaker, drowsiness and weariness increase and the victim feels less and less relief from his "siesta."
He begins to eat sparingly, and many foods he once relished are now unpalatable. He eats very little at breakfast, a little more at dinner, and generally attempts to make up for lost time at the evening repast, a very injurious and often disastrous procedure.

About this time also, the average victim becomes somewhat alarmed over his loss of appetite and makes a nervous hasto obtain relief. As is usually the case, he doesn't know exactly what ails him, and in nine cases out of ten he puzzles the family physician and other doctors to whom he applies for relief.

This was exactly the case of Miss May E.
Wood, a well known and popular young lady, whose home is at 221 Washington Avenue, North Lansing, Mich. Her case is decidedly interesting and her recovery is nothing short of marvellous.

"When my stomach first began to trouble me," said Miss Wood to a Journal reporter,
"I did not feel one bit alarmed, thinking it was only a temporary ailment and that it would soon wear away. But it didn't. I kept right on growing worse and worse. At first I couldn't eat as much as I was accustomed to and later I would feel a very tired, dragging down sensation after partaking of a meal. My condition would not grow better. Orders from cooling food made me deadly sick. It got so that the very sight of some edibles which formerly were very agreeable to me made me feel miserable. In fact, the least thing was sufficient to turn my stomach, and I began to feel much alarmed."

I consulted one of the best doctors in Lansing, but he couldn't do anything for me. I grew worse right along, and was so weak that I had to take to my bed. I gave up getting Lansing doctor and secure the services of one of the leading physicians of Detroit. He came here to see me a number of times, and was confident he could make me well. But he was wrong. I continued sinking every day, and my strength was getting less and less. I weighed 115 pounds when I took to my bed, and in a few weeks I had lost thirteen pounds. To say I was finally thoroughly alarmed is putting it mildly. My doctors' bills were getting larger and larger and I was getting no better. Finally the doctors couldn't do anything more for me, and I thought anytime had come and that I must die. I was in despair, and felt indescribably wretched.

"During my illness I did considerable reading, and I chanced to see articles relating to the wonderful cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in the Lansing Journal. I purchased a box and took the pills according to directions, and the result surprised me beyond expression. Before one half of the box was gone I felt a bit better. It really seemed to me as if I was on the road to recovery after taking the first dose."

"After having taken three boxes I really felt like my former self again, and was able to get up and move about the house. I kept right on taking the pills, and after the sixth box was gone I felt as well and strong as ever. I could eat again, and eat heartily.
My appetite has been excellent ever since,
and I have had no occasion to take any medicine since I used the pills."

"I now feel like a different person. I more than regained the thirteen pounds I lost, and it seems as if I could stand more fatigue than ever before. While I don't expect to get sick again, I am a friend of various more stomach disorders, I wouldn't rest easy if I knew there weren't any of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house. They are indeed a comfort, and I wouldn't be without them under any circumstances."

"I feel so grateful and happy over the good results I obtained from the pills that I wish everybody to know it is a reliable remedy. Miss Abbie Fuller, a friend of mine, was sorely troubled with severe headaches, and was made very sick at times. I recommended the pills to her and told her how much they had helped me. She took a few boxes and is now as well as ever, and she thinks as much of Dr. Williams' Pills as I do."

"Miss Elsie Bryan, who you will remember met a terrible death in a runaway accident in Easton, Virginia, recently was a friend of mine. She was troubled with her stomach nearly as badly as I was, and after taking the Pink Pills upon my recommendation she thoroughly recovered her health, and praised the remedy very highly.
There are others to whom I have recommended the pills and in every instance they have always been greatly benefited by them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not looked upon as a patent medicine, but rather as a prescription. An analysis of their properties shows that they contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of a gripe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humor in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and flow cheeks. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr.
Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady,
N. Y., for 60c. per box. 12 boxes for $2.50.
